Detail:

PH10M and PH10T PLUS heads are supplied in many various kits, some of which include a shank. This bulletin is to give notification that where a shank is supplied as part of a kit, the shank will no longer be fitted to the PH10 head by Renishaw before shipment. The correct screws will be included in the kit together with guidance on the correct torque to be used by the system installer or support team when fitting the shank locally. This is the same process that would be required in the event of an RBE head needing to be installed in the field.

This change will take effect within the next few months.
